Why You Should Attend

One of the many challenges in dealing with mental health law issues is understanding the relevant law and how to apply it in any given situation. Often decisions must be made quickly, with inadequate information or consultation. Failure to adequately assess risk, to properly address the rights of individuals and their families, or to provide proper patient care, can compromise essential rights of an individual and his or her family. It can also land you and your organization in investigation, inquiries and even litigation.

Now in its seventh year, this practice-based program was developed to give you the knowledge and practical skills you need to competently and confidently handle mental health law issues. Over five intensive one-day modules you will learn what you need to know and acquire best practices from some of the most knowledgeable and experienced experts in Canada. You will come away from this program with knowledge, tools, strategies and tactics that you can immediately apply.

Key Benefits

- Gain a clear understanding of the core principles of mental health law
- Acquire tools and strategies for handling mental health law issues
- Receive comprehensive learning materials that will be a useful and ongoing resource
- Connect with and learn from experts and peers who share your challenges

Who Should Attend

- Psychiatrists, physicians, nurses and other licensed medical professionals
- Representatives from hospitals, psychiatric facilities, long-term care facilities, CCACs and community service provider agencies
- Health and social service professionals • Social Workers • Health care risk managers
- Corrections and rehabilitation service representatives • Law enforcement officers
- Crown lawyers, Defence Counsel and Duty Counsel • Mental health patient advocates
- Health law practitioners • Government and public policy advisors

This unique certificate program, now in its seventh year, is designed to deliver practical knowledge that goes beyond traditional classroom-based learning. The fundamental concepts of mental health law, and strategies to apply these concepts, will be taught and reinforced in an interesting, informative and practical way, using a blended-delivery method which includes lectures, case studies, class/group discussions, directed readings and guest speakers.
