Miscarriages of Justice: Bringing Justice System Participants Together to Prevent and Right the Wrongs

"On October 1st, 1959, 14-year-old Steven Truscott was sentenced to death by hanging for the rape and murder of classmate Lynn Harper. He was then the youngest person in Canada since 1875 to face execution. The horror of the possibility of a wrongful conviction in our country, especially of such a young person, remained with me throughout the years, and became particularly meaningful to me when, after my retirement from the practice of law, I had the opportunity to develop criminal law programs at Osgoode Professional Development," says Mary Park. Kevin Cyr on Urgent Legal Issues in Policing

"The National Symposium on Urgent Legal Issues in Policing was focused on the issues that are currently presenting the most risk to police agencies and also undergoing the most evolution – use of force, dynamic warrants, and mental health response. The confluence of high risk and rapidly changing public expectations against a backdrop of evolving legal standards makes these issues incredibly interesting and important." Read more

Fireside Chat with Associate Justice Wiebe: Best Practices in Court & “Dos + Don’ts” (58m)

At this year's 3rd Annual Legal Guide to Managing Construction Liens in Ontario 2022, Associate Justice Charles Wiebe, Ontario Superior Court of Justice, took attendees through an interactive walk through of a lien trial, focusing on best practices and recommended “dos and don’ts” when appearing before a decision maker in court, including virtual proceedings.
