Osgoode's Certificate in Entertainment Law: 10 Years Later

The world of arts and entertainment can be as creative and exciting as it is challenging and complex, particularly for those working behind-the-scenes. For ten years, Osgoode's Certificate in Entertainment Law has provided over 500 students, both those with or without a law degree, with a comprehensive and practical overview of entertainment law in Canada. We spoke with Program Director Susan Abramovitch (Gowling WLG LLP) and faculty members Bob Tarantino (Dentons Canada LLP), David Steinberg (Dentons Canada LLP), and Darlene Tonelli (Inter Alia Law), to reflect further on the past 10 years of the program. An LLM in Dispute Resolution Grad Trip that Turned Online Classmates into Lifelong Friends

As a student of Osgoode's Professional LLM programs, you'll build and grow a network that lasts a lifetime. But how exactly does this happen? For one cohort of the Dispute Resolution LLM, it meant finding ways to reconnect after completing most of their degree online. Read more

Arts-based Osgoode Professional Development Course Seeks to Change Conflict Culture, One Lawyer at a Time

The most recent offering of the arts-based course, Creativity and Collaboration in Practice: Essential Skills for the 21st Century Practitioner, sent students on a five-day creative journey on their way to achieving their Professional LLM in Dispute Resolution or another Professional LLM discipline. For many, it was the first in-person course they had taken in two years, with some travelling from as far away as Vancouver, Edmonton and Winnipeg. Read more

Faculty Profile Brigitte Catellier

How Brigitte, an instructor in Osgoode's LLM in Financial Law and co-director of Osgoode's Investor Protection Clinic (IPC), bridges traditional finance and fintech innovation.
